

NewYork-Presbyterian / Weill Cornell Medicine
&
The Carter-Burden Network present the
Older Adult Falls Prevention Virtual Symposium 2020

Tuesday, September 22, 2020 9 AM – 12:00 PM

This is a free half-day symposium that is open to health care professionals and human services workers

Moderated By:

Robert Curran, D.C., Injury Prevention Coordinator, NYP/Weill Cornell Medical Center

Caitlyn Smith, MPH, "Falls Prevention in NYC 2020"

Ruth Reisman, Aud. D., "An Audiologist Is A Necessary Part of the Falls Prevention Team"

Yevgeniy Berenshteyn, DPT, "Spin Class: Vertigo In The Older Adult"

Ingrid Ayana P. Custodio, BSN, RN-BC, "STEADI: Implementing Falls Prevention Into Primary Care"

Tarona Tchorzewski, BSN, RN, "Lessons From the Front-lines of Falls"

Ali Boolani, Ph. D., "Cognitive Fatigue and Falls"

Patricia C. Dykes, Ph. D, RN, "The STRIDE Study: A Brief Review of Findings"

Mark Dekki, MPA, Tai Chi For Arthritis via Zoom, Class open to all 12pm-1pm

To register in advance click the link below:

2020 Falls Prevention Symposium

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information on how to join the meeting